day to welcome the big aggregation of burlesque talent. According to the program the entertainment consists of two funny concoctions simply thrown together to amuse the burlesque-going public. The scenes are laid in Japan and on a New York roof garden, in both of which Watson has his familiar character of Philip Krousemeyer. His chief assistant is Johnnie Jess, an Irish comedian of merit, and throughout the performance both are much in evidence, to the delight of the audience. Lillian Franklin, Ida Walling, Adelaide Walsh, Islu Leslie and Ruby Marion comprise the feminine portion of the cast, and, assisted by a well-drilled chorus, they make the performance delightful.
